

Website Privacy Statement

The goal of the Catholic Union of Texas (The K.J.T.), by and through kjtnet.org, is to provide a rich array of information and online tools to K.J.T. members and the public. To do this effectively, certain user data may be collected and/or reviewed so that The K.J.T. can understand our users and in turn make kjtnet.org more relevant and user friendly to each individual user. Information about members and the public is used in different ways, as set out below.

This privacy statement may change from time to time as we add features to kjtnet.org. If you have questions or comments, please contact Christopher Urban at president@kjtnet.org.

Information Collected and its Use

Information collected from both members and the public includes:

Server log information: When you visit kjtnet.org or any other website, you are identifiable as a unique number, called an IP address. Your IP address is automatically collected in server logs. We use this information to help diagnose problems with our server and to analyze server traffic to learn which pages on kjtnet.org receive more or fewer visitors. This information is anonymous and cannot be traced back to a specific individual. The server log also can tell us which browser you are using (i.e. Internet Explorer or Netscape), and the name of the website that referred you to our site. (i.e., if you were visiting the American Fraternal Alliance website and clicked on a link to kjtnet.org, you were "referred" through the American Fraternal Alliance site).

Cookies: These are text files which our website places on your computer's hard drive to keep track of your preferences. We may use cookies to personalize your experience on kjtnet.org. That is, cookies may help us remember who you are and deliver content and services based on your personal preferences.

User-supplied information: Current and future services on kjtnet.org, may require that you give us your name, email address, or other personal information. By providing this information, you can and will be able to transact business via the Internet which in the past required telephone or mail contact with The K.J.T. home office or an agent or representative. These online services are provided as a convenience to our members, and allow The K.J.T. to provide you with efficient and high-quality service as a member benefit.

In the future, access to some services may be protected by a password. We recommend that you not divulge your password to anyone.

In the future, certain features of kjtnet.org will allow members to request updates to their membership information, including their address, telephone numbers, and email addresses. Members should be aware that certain member information, regardless of whether it is submitted via kjtnet.org, is subject to the existing federal and state law.

Security

We have security measures in place that are intended to prevent the loss, misuse, or alteration of information under our control.
